Garden Ceremony Unites Nila Eipper, John Taylor

A playhouse, with its fond memories for Miss Nila M. Eipper, was transformed Sunday into an attractive setting for the wedding vows which she exchanged with John M. Taylor of Torrance.

The lovely garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Eipper, 25338 Pennsylvania avenue, parents of the bride, was most attractive in a riot of colored blooms and shrubbery and plants. Forming the background for the rites was the playhouse which had been transformed to represent a small chapel with its cupola and stained glass windows.

Mrs. Weis Feted on Birthday

Present were the honor guest and Mr. Weis, the hosts and their small daughter, Sharon.

at the doorway of the chapel attired in white organdy fashioned entrain in an off-the-shoulder bodice with eyelid embroidery and ruffled-trimmed neckline. Her orange blossom tiara held in place the finger-tip veil and she carried imported gardenias surrounding a detachable white orchid. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls.

Miss Sharon Lang, as maid of honor, wore pale blue organdy complemented with a bouquet of pink roses. Other attendants, Miss Yvonne Ducoing of Wilmington, in yellow organdy and Mrs. James Myers of Torrance in pale blue marquisette completed the bride's entourage. Their flowers were pink and white carnations in colonial style bouquets.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor of 280th street, Torrance, was attended by his brother, James Taylor and groomsmen, Tom Milstead and James Myers.

Reading the marriage lines was Rev. Charles Swift, Jr., of Artesia before the guest group of one hundred forty relatives and friends of the couple.

Mrs. James Willacy played incidental organ music and the accompaniment for the soloist, Miss Edna Sandstrom, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

In charge of the reception were Mrs. James Lang, Mrs. Kay Nelson of Huntington Park and Mrs. Dale Smith of Crestline. The bride cut the four-tiered wedding cake which was served with punch.

Following a wedding trip which took them to Lavita Hot Springs and Tijuana, Mexico they will reside at 2312 W. 247th street.

The new Mrs. Taylor is employed in the office of the Kelley Car Company in Los Angeles and Mr. Taylor is an employee of the Columbia Steel Company.

Fall Hobby Show Planned By Salvation Army Group

Priceless collections of glassware, china, clocks, and costumes will be among the thousands of articles to be displayed to Torrance residents during the Fall Hobby Show at the Salvation Army social center serving this area.

Announcement of the event, which will be held late in September, was made this week following a meeting of the center's Women's Committee, sponsors of the show.

Initial plans for the Hobby Show were made by the committee, which is headed by Mrs. Kenneth McCafferty. A division especially for children is slated. Displays in the show will be of collections rather than craft-work, according to a decision reached by the committee.

Torrance residents with collections of rare and unusual items who wish to display them at the show may telephone Torrance 1563 to enter. They are requested to leave with the clerk the information: (1) type of entry for the Salvation Army Hobby Show, (2) name, (3) address.
